

CLEMSON WINS FROM P.C. TEAM

Rhett Pitches Superb Game—Clemson Won by Score of 2 to 1.

In one of the prettiest games of the season, Clemson won the final game from the Presbyterians. The game was close and exciting to the finish. The features of the game or the main feature to be more specific was the pitching of Rhett, the lad from the "Battery." He allowed the visitors three measly hits, one of them being a bad rag which Cureton would have easily gotten. Ralph did a nice bit of base running in the seventh, when he stole third and a few minutes later came home on Harris' single making the winning run.

First Inning.

Ballenger hit to third and was out at first. Miller did the same. Gallo-way hit to third and was safe when McMillan fumbled. He took second on a wild pitch. He then stole third. Flowers walked. Flowers stole the second sack. McFie hit to the pitcher and was out.

Tarrant flied out to right. Major hit to second and was safe on second baseman's fumble. Major stole second. McMillan fanned. Cureton singled past short. Major taking third. Major was trapped between third and home.

TIGERS LOST TO GA. NINE

Thornton had Hard Luck—Was Replaced by Richards Who Held Visitors to One Hit.

Georgia took the opening game with the Tigers in the second inning when they got on to Bob's fast ones and ran in a score which could not be overcome. The Tigers put up a game fight throughout, especially in the eighth inning when a batting rally brought in two runs. With the exception of the second inning the game was a beautiful one. The prettiest catch of the season was pulled off by Georgia's right fielder, who robbed Ralph of what promised to be a home run. Richards pitched a beautiful game, allowing only one hit in six and a half innings.

First Inning.

Spurlock grounded out, Thornton to James. Clements lifted a high one to Anderson. Cureton tossed Harrison out at first.

Tarrant out, Clements to Henderson. Major struck out, but the catcher dropped the ball and he was safe at first. On the hit and run, McMillan hit to second and was out a first. Major going to third. Cureton singled through the box and Dopey came home. Ralph stole second. Anderson died, second to first.

Second Inning.

Henderson flied out to Tarrant. Hitchcock was out, Mac to James.

GEORGIA TAKES SECOND GAME

Corley Holds the Tigers Down to a Four-hit Game—Locals a Bit Off Fielding.

In a long drawn out game, in which Georgia had the better of the argument, the Tigers lost the final game to the visitors. Corley pitched a good game, allowing only four bingles. The Georgia team fielded excellently, while the Tigers made a total of 10 errors. Cureton of Clemson, and Erwin and Henderson of Georgia lead with the stick. Gee made a few pretty throw-outs, at second, of men who were attempting to steal on him. The Georgia team should be complimented on the strategy they used in attempting to interpret our signals, which failed.

First Inning.

Spurlock safe on Major's fumble. Clements doubled, Spurlock taking third. Harrison grounded out to Cureton. Henderson hit to short and Spurlock came home while Clements took third and Henderson second on the play. Clements was out trying to steal home. Erwin singled to left, Henderson scoring. Gillis out, Major to first.

Tarrant walked. Major popped up to catcher. McMillan singled past first, Tarrant going to third. McMillan stole second. Cureton singled to left, Tarrant and McMillan scoring. Cureton taking second on throw in. Cureton stole third. Cureton scored when pitcher failed to tag him at plate. Anderson flied out to left. Uler fanned and was out at first.

Second Inning.

Holden got to first when Ralph threw wild to James. Torbett sacrificed and Holden went to third. Corley grounded out to short, Holden scoring. Spurlock grounded out to McMillan.

James grounded out to third. Gee grounded out to pitcher. Schachte was safe on third baseman's error. Tarrant walked. Major fanned.

Third Inning.

Clements reached first on Major's fumble, and reached second on Gee's wild peg. Harrison popped up to Cureton. Henderson flied out to Iler who doubled on Clements at second.

McMillan grounded out to short. Cureton flied out to left and Anderson grounded out to short.

Fourth Inning.

Erwin hit a homer to center. Gillis fanned. Holden struck out and reached first on Gee's bad throw. Holden stole second. Torbett hit to pitcher and Holden was out at third. Torbett was thrown out trying to steal second.

Iler walked. James fanned. Iler taking second on the play. Gee grounded out to pitcher. Shachte fanned.

Fifth Inning.

Corley walked. Spurlock popped up to McMillan. Clements hit to Major, who errored. Corley going to second. Harrison singled to right. Corley scoring. Clements going to third. And in the general mix-up Harrison reached second. Clements was trapped off third. Erwin hit to short and was safe on Ralph's fumble. Harrison scoring on the play. Gillis singled past second. Holden fanned.

Tarrant fanned. Major hit to third and was out. McMillan fanned.

Sixth Inning.

Torbett fanned. Coley did the same. Spurlock walked. He stole second. Clements popped up to James. Cureton grounded out to second. Anderson singled. Iler hit to short, a double play.

Seventh Inning.

Harrison flied out to Iler. Henderson reached first on Major's fumble. Erwin singled and took second. Henderson going to third. Iler failed to pick the ball up. Gillis hit to Major, who errored. Henderson scoring and Erwin going to third. Gillis stole second. Holden singled to left, Erwin and Gillis scoring. Holden took second on the play. Holden went to third on a wild pitch. Torbett fanned. Corley flied out to Iler.

James fanned. Gee grounded out to pitcher. Schachte popped up to catcher.

VALUE OF A TECHNICAL COLLEGE EDUCATION

A young man can make no better investment than in a technical education. Viewed merely as a matter of business, even if he has to borrow the money at interest, he will find that his increased earning capacity will, perhaps even the first year after graduation be sufficient to repay the loan. It is a poor business policy to wait to earn the money necessary to pay for an education with an earning capacity only one-half or one-third that of an educated man. Every year of untrained labor represents a direct financial loss. Every boy of ability and ambition whose parents are unable to pay for his education, should get some friend to endorse his note at the bank and begin preparation that will make for greater earning capacity and a fuller life. There is no time to lose. The world is looking for 1,000 horse-power men and is willing to pay for them. Already there is a surplus of the one horse-power variety.

A College education is no longer a luxury of the rich, but more of a necessity of the poor boy whose parents can give him little or nothing to start on. In earning capacity a College education represents at the outset a capital of from $15,000 to $30,000, depending upon the energy, character and personality of the possessor, and the capital increases with every year of its efficient use.

A College diploma has come to be regarded by the business world not so much as an evidence of knowledge as evidence that the graduate possesses and is trained in those qualities of ability, industry, ambition and character that are likely to make for success.

There never was a time in the history of the world when expert knowledge was so much in demand, so indispensable to individual success, and so highly compensated. For the untrained await the positions of low wages, long hours and poverty.

Clemson College brings within the reach of every boy in South Carolina the benefits and possibilities of a technical education. He is here offered an opportunity to enjoy some of the good things of life. The way is provided whereby, if he have the ambition and capacity for knowledge, he need not continue in ignorance. Here, at a cost lower than at any similar institution, can a young man obtain an education second to none if he be seeking an education that will prepare him for self-sustaining, self-respecting citizenship.

TEACHERS VISIT CLEMSON

On last Friday, fifty-nine representatives of the Oconee County Teachers' Association were visitors at the college. They were the guests of the college for the day and were shown through the various departments and the work which was being done in these different divisions was explained to them by the cadets of the Senior class from Oconee county.

We were very glad to have them with us, for we recognize, as President Riggs stated in his address of welcome to the visitors in chapel on Friday morning, that the teachers of the graded schools are the ones who are doing the greatest work for the advancement of education in South Carolina today.

PROF. AND MRS HARPER ENTERTAIN

On last Saturday evening at eight o'clock, the Agricultural Seniors were delightfully entertained by Professor and Mrs. J. N. Harper at their home on the campus.

Music was delightfully furnished by the Victrola with records of all descriptions of popular music while those present were engaged in pleasant conversation.

Among the enjoyable features of the evening were, the clever dancing exhibitions of Miss Porcher and of Mrs. Harper, and the old Southern darky sermon delivered in true negro dialect and style by Prof. J. N. Harper.

Delicious refreshments, consisting of courses of salads, sandwiches and cream were served.

On the whole, the evening was a most delightful one, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

MATINEES OF AUBURN SERIES

Matinees of the two games of base ball against Auburn in Auburn, Ala., are to be given by the matinee club on May 7 and 8.

The management promises an improvement over the games which have recently been given on the new electric board, and we expect the progress of the game to be clearly noted play by play. Those who had tickets refunded at the last matinee may use them at these matinees.

Come out, fellows, with the good old-time spirit which has been sadly lacking of late, and let the team know that we are with them throughout the Alabama series.

CORPS PAYS RESPECTS.

Two floral offerings were sent off by the corps of cadets last week at the suggestion of the Athletic Association. One wreath of flowers was sent to Spartanburg in memory of R. B. Ezell, while the other was sent to Anderson for the recently deceased father of S. C. Webb.

EDITORIAL

Spell it Win-throbs.

Rock Hill correspondence grows greater.

As usual, the uniform had its day—w/ith our “sisters” of course.

Our orator's hopes have in no way waned,

We lose only to become stronger.

We can scarcely express the shock and the sadness which we experienced when news was received that one whom we had known so intimately and had loved so dearly had but a short time ago departed from this world.

“Doc” Ezell, as he was known to all of us, was among the most highly honored, if not the most honored man in last year's Senior Class. He was President of the Junior Class, Captain and star pitcher of the base ball team, President of the Block “C” Club, President of the Columbian Literary Society, one of the commencement orators, '14, Editor-in-chief of “The Tiger” 1913-14, and held many other important and honored positions during his college career at Clemson. He was an all-round college man in every true sence of the word, and it is hard to conceive how so worthy a young man should be taken from us while he was yet in the prime of young manhood, and summoned to that bourne from which no traveler returns. We bend our humble and wholly inadequate efforts in speaking of him as the poet spoke of his friend, “None knew him but to love him, Or named him save to praise.”

The “rooting” on the side lines last Saturday afternoon was something fierce. Why, “as a matter of fact,” you could have heard a pin drop at almost any time during the game. To be sure, it was hot and the game from our standpoint was a little ragged, but that's the very time we need all of the spirit which is at our command. Again we repeat that glad refrain which all of us read, but few put into practice:

“The man worth while is the man who can smile,
And cheer when the play goes wrong”

This failure to manifest proper spirit can be attributed to several causes, which we do not care to repeat, but it should be the last time that the corps is responsible for such poor spirit.

The championship stretch is here now, and we should all get busy and pull for our team as we have never pulled before—and then the glad rag will be ours.

IN MEMORIAM.

The announcement of the death of R. B. Ezell brought genuine sorrow to every Clemson heart. It is not extravagant speech to say that Doc Ezell, as he was affectionately called, was as popular at Clemson as any man who has attended the institution. By many he was regarded as the best liked man. There have been men who have surpassed him in this or that, but it would be hard to name a man who lived at a higher level throughout his entire college course. As a former athletic coach said, he was a clean, pure, Christian gentleman.

There is usually some outstanding characteristic in the life of every man of attractive personality. In Ezell un-failing good humor was a dominant trait. Who ever saw him with a scowl, or heard him kick at a decision, whether of umpire, teacher, or classmates? The same smile lighted his face whether ball or strike was called when he was in the box. And so in the class room, whether he made high grade or low (though he nearly always made high) no shadow of resentment ever clouded his good temper that first drew teacher and student to Ezell; and then the genuine manliness, the high purpose, and the nobility of soul bound each to him with hoops of steel. It was a pleasure to teach him: it was a privilege to be associated with him.

The life of Ezell should be an inspiration to every Clemson cadet. He proved by his daily walk and conversation that a man may be clean and pure in life and thought, gentle yet brave in deeds, humble yet high in purpose, noble and manly in everything, and still mingle in happy joyous life with his fellows.

“The elements were so mix'd in him that Nature might stand up
And say to all the world, “This was a man!”

TRIP TO ROCK HILL MUCH ENJOYED.

It is true, the poet tells us, that the pen is mightier than the sword; but the experiences of the past few days would convince us that the sword is mightier than the tongue. Clemson, it is true, did not win the Oratorical Contest, but certainly drove off with the "blue ribbon" in the race for the hearts of our "big sister." This is something which we, have been longing for, as Winthrop has had our hearts for many a day. We left here at 2:15 P. M. Thursday, and arrived in Rock Hill at 6:45. The Chamber of Commerce had pitched tents for the company on the same grounds as last year. In a short time the boys had settled down and scattered to all parts of town, to return by midnight. Revielle Friday morning found all of the boys up and "rearing to go." As soon as camp was policed and orders published for the day the camp was again deserted. Nearly the whole company attended chapel exercises at Winthrop that morning, brothers remaining with their sisters until dinner.

At 2:00 P. M. the company was formed for an exhibition drill on Main street of Rock Hill. The drill consisted of a street parade, "passing in review" before Mayor Roddey and several members of the Chamber of Commerce, and the fancy Rifle Drill, or Butt's Manual. As soon as the drill was over, the company, almost to a man, set out for the college. Dr. Johnson had granted us permission to see any of our friends, sisters, or sweethearts from two until six o'clock and the "warning bell" for supper found the parlors full of uniforms.

That night the Oratorical contest started at eight o'clock and the company attended in a body. Our speaker, Mr. Swinehart, did unusually well, but was out-spoken by Johnson, of Carolina. The audience seemed to fully appreciate his splendid oration.

After the contest a reception was given in the college parlors lasting almost until midnight, and it was with sorrow that we left the halls and caught the last car to town. Many of the boys went directly to Friedheim's Hall, where the Annual Contest Ball was in full swing, and danced until two-thirty Saturday morning.

Saturday morning another exhibition drill was given on Main street. After this the company marched to the elegant home of Mayor Roddey where a reception was tendered the visitors. A very pleasant morning was spent, and time passed so fast that it was dinner time before we realized it.

The company was formed at 3:30 for the drill on Winthrop campus and the company, in full dress uniform, began its exercises on the Pageant grounds at 4:15. The detachment was divided into two companies for a Battalion Parade and Butts Manual and later combined for exhibition drill as a single unit. After the drill, Dr. Johnson addressed the company, expressing his appreciation in glowing praise and closed his remarks by inviting the boys to take supper with their friends in the "dining" hall. After drill, a concert was given by the Cadet Band on the lawn in front of the Administration Building lasting until "fall in" for supper. A delicious supper was served in Winthrop's beautiful and spacious dining hall. After supper we were allowed to remain with our sweethearts until seven o'clock.

Saturday night the literary societies of Winthrop combined to stage Shakespeare's best comedy, "A Mid-Summer Nights' Dream." The girls in the cast showed great talent and excellent training, doing so much better than could possibly have been anticipated that many in the audience doubted that all of the players were students. The stage effects were wonderful, especially so in the woodland scene of the second act.

After the play another reception was given and it was with sorrowful hearts that we left the dear old campus after spending such pleasant hours there.

AS TO STYLE IN YOUNG MEN'S HATS

As you know every critical dresser knows there is no half way in style. A hat is either all wrong or all right.

It is just that faculty for being right that puts the "Stetson" where it stands today. Spring "Stetsons" here, soft and stiff. Come see them or order by parcel post. We prepay.

The company broke camp Sunday morning and entrained at 1:15 P. M. after assembling on the station platform and cheering for Rock Hill and the Chamber of Commerce who had made our trip possible. Through the kindness of the dispatcher we were allowed to stop our train behind the college and gave vent to our feelings in cheers for Winthrop and "Debe" ending with a "Skyrocket and Good-bye on the end." It was a tired and downcast crowd that reached college at seven o'clock, but one may be sure that no one of them will ever forget the Oratorical Contest of 1915.

DEATH OF R. B. EZELL.

R. B. Ezell, '14, died of tuberculosis at his home in Spartanburg last Wednesday night at nine o'clock. He is well known here as one of the best pitchers that Clemson ever had. He was playing ball with one of the western league teams during the past summer when it was found that he had contracted the disease. Since then, his health had been gradually failing him, but until recently hopes had been held out for his recovery.

Six members of the base ball team attended the funeral in Spartanburg last Friday: Messrs. R. B. Cureton, A. B. Schachte, L. R. Tarrant, C. B. Iler, H. Harris, and C. S. Anderson. They were former team-mates of "Doc's" and acted as pall-bearers.

SENATOR BANKS DELIVERS IMPRESSIVE TALK.

In chapel during the first hour on Monday morning, Senator J. A. Banks, of Calhoun County, gave one of the most inspiring, instructive and impressive talks that it has been our good fortune to hear in many a day.

Senator Banks is a prominent member of our family, he being the father of three sons who have been graduated here—the one who was graduated here last year having won the highest honor which it is possible for the college to bestow upon a student—the Norris Medal, and of two here at present and of one (little, teeny, teeny" Dingle") who is yet to come—so Senator Banks happily informs us.

Senator Banks' talk was full of kind advice which is well to bear in mind at all times. "The world is too material at present," he said. He spoke of the accomplishments of great men within the last fifty years, and said that men who are to become equally as great are now being developed. The dynamo is a wonderful bit of work, but the human mind is the greatest dynamo in the world—reaching out and catching impulses and sparks of inspiration from all parts of the world about us. The importance of the motto "know thyself" was stressed. Love of humanity is what governs our influence in the world. The good points which he touched upon in his talk were further driven home by some good bits of poetry—one from Shakespeare beginning: "What a piece of work is a man! how noble in reason; how infinite in faculty! etc." He also used one from Kipling:

"If you can keep your head when all about are losing theirs,
And blaming it on you.

* * * You'll be a man, my son."

We congratulate ourselves on having heard such an excellent talk.
